MEDICAL EXPENSES DECLARATION

We are sending you this form because your household may be eligible to deduct medical expenses from your annual income. The purpose of this letter is to explain what Seattle Housing considers eligible out of pocket medical expenses and the process for reporting medical expenses. When calculating medical expense deductions, Seattle Housing looks at expenses that an eligible household has paid over the past twelve months in excess of 3% of the household's annual income within a twelve month period.

IMPORTANT NOTE:

Items or services that you have not yet paid for, that are covered by insurance, or that someone else paid for, are not eligible. You must only report the part of the medical expenses you paid for in the twelve month period listed below.

What twelve-month period of expenses is counted? Medical expenses will only be reviewed at admission and during your annual review by calculating what you have paid over the past twelve months. If your household experiences an increase or decrease in medical expenses between annual reviews, keep the records and report the expense during your next annual review.

What are eligible Medical Expenses? (This list is not all inclusive.)

How to submit expenses at Annual Review: List all your household’s medical expenses paid in the past twelve months that were not paid by someone outside of your household on the chart below. Attach more paper if needed. Seattle Housing will review the chart to determine which expenses qualify for a medical deduction. You will not receive a deduction for expenses listed that are not considered qualifying medical expenses by Seattle Housing Authority. If the chart is not completed then your expenses will not be deducted. Please do not submit documentation at this time. However, keep your documentation for at least one year in case of file audit. If expenses are reported inaccurately or are unverifiable you may be responsible for any subsidy overpaid on your behalf.
